About the Games...

National Junior Disability Championships (NJDC) provides an opportunity for 300+ top young athletes aged 7-21 from all around the country to compete for medals in 6 different athletic events during the 8 days of the games. What makes this event special is that all of these athletes have significant physical or visual disabilities, such as spinal cord injuries, cerebral palsy, amputations, and blindness. These exceptionally talented athletes have all qualified at regional meets held earlier in the year, and represent the very best performers in their sports and age ranges in the country.
